Like the McMichaels, Bryan says he believes Arbery was responsible for break-ins in their neighborhood. It was later revealed that it was an open-framed house under construction that Arbery was seen entering, and an attorney for the owner later said nothing was stolen.

♦He obviously was up to something, ♦ Bryan tells an officer, while describing how he maneuvered his own truck to try to prevent Arbery from escaping.

♦Should we have been chasing him? ♦ Bryan says. ♦I don♦t know. ♦

State investigators with the GBI arrested the McMichaels on murder charges the day after the agency began its own investigation in May. A judge has denied bond for all three defendants, whose attorneys are appealing the decision to keep them jailed.

The Glynn County officers dispatched to the shooting don't seem to question the McMichaels' account that they were justified to kill Arbery.

In one video, an officer standing outside the crime-scene tape asks another:
♦Did he shoot him? A self-defense thing? ♦

♦That♦s what it looks like, ♦ the other officer replies.
